La Murichessa

€990,000

📍 Arzachena, Sardegna

The property, built in the early 2000s was born in a residential area among the most beautiful inland of the Costa Smeralda, both for the morphological preciousness of the territory that hosts it, and for the central position with respect to the towns and beaches. The house is cleverly set in a plot of about 14,000 square meters in size and is located on a small promontory with sea views in the distance on the island of Caprera.

The property is on two levels and has a double access.

On the ground floor the entrance is on a large covered patio half overlooking the viewpoint with green lawn and bbq corner.
